Discernible differences of takes:

The accompaniment seems to be played from written parts and dissimilarities of takes might be minimal, but the following can be discerned
 -? trombone retained in ensemble in first two bars of introduction
 -2 muted trombone (straight mute) very prominent and loud in first two bars of intro, but playing same notes as in -?

The trumpet player certainly is a follower of the Johnny Dunn style ubiquitous in Harlem at this time, playing in strong military style with its staccato phrasing and its sharp triple bugle calls. I would suggest this player to be Gus Aiken who was able to perform in convincing Dunn style. The trombonist might be George 'Lorenzo' Brashear with his brash tailgate style. And then the clarinetist shows signs of the enigmatic Clarence Robinson of whom W.C. Allen says: "An unidentified clarinetist, with a fine ensemble sense and a tone that reminds me of Johnny Dodds (I am sure, however, that it was NOT Dodds), whom I tentatively identify as Clarence Robinson." (Hendersonia, p.33/34). The pianist may well be Fletcher Henderson as given by Allen, although no personal stylistic traits can be identified. The tuba player then might be one of a number of New York theatre musicians employed by band leaders like Eubie Blake. Chink Johnson might be a possibility. This session very probably has the same personnel as Josie Miles' session of the same day for the same label!

Lena Wilson obviously is accompanied by a white band here. As shown below this band had been assumed to be the Original Memphis Five (Rust*3,*4). Yet, on this same session the coloured vaudeville singer Sister Harris (possibly Estelle Harris) cut the consecutive matrix 70043 with a band also named 'Nubian Five' comprising the above listed personnel. The sounds of each bands seem to be identical so that I have taken over this personnel for this Lena Wilson session. The accompaniment is expertly played and very convincing, showing a beautiful clarinet player in creole style.

This is the first recording under the Perry Bradford's Jazz Phoools sign. I have listened to it after checking the session of late May (see below), generally dated May/June 1923. Rust's personnel for this session is vague or even non-existent. With first delving into the matter it became apparent that there are some familiar figures present and the sounds heard easily give hints to Gus Aiken in his Dunn-derived style of the time, a very fluent and elegant trombone player who has to be Flemming in contrast to Gus Aiken's brother Bud, who very often teamed with his trumpet playing brother, but plays in a less exuberant style than Flemming, Flemming had been with Lt. Europe's "Hell-Fighters Band" in Europe in World War I, and he certainly had learned how to play a trombone with all of its tricks and finesse, and accordingly he did not have any competitor at this early time in Harlem. Bradford can be heard with his own busy tinkle-tinkle-plink piano and a banjo player trying to sound like John Mitchell, but without his expertise. Then the next day I happened to skim through Record Research 79 finding the notice below re this session by W.C. Allen which perfectly verified my assumptions. Bradford and Speede were easy to identify. There is no reed player on these sides! Comparison with other recordings by Edith Wilson suggests that Aiken plays at a couple of other instances where Dunn is listed. (There even are a couple of recordings listed as Dunn's Jazz Hounds where a Sam Wooding aggregation plays!) Gus Aiken obviously was able to play exactly in the Dunn manner, so much so that nobody in the past doubted Dunn's presence and tried to find out whether it was really Dunn or somebody else. But this might be the subject of a subsequent article!

Recording date is from: The Rise and Fall of Paramount Records, Vol. 1, Third Man Records.

Note: For this session the following personnels have been listed:

- Info from Walter C. Allen in 'Filling In Discographically', Record Research 79 p. 10: "Johnny Dunn or Gus Aiken, cornet; Herb Flemming, trombone; Garvin Bushell, clarinet; George Rickson ?, piano; John Mitchell, banjo. This personnel, with Dunn, is from John Mitchell after hearing the record. However, the cornetist does not sound at all times like Dunn's other work, and according to the NEW YORK AGE, May 5, 1923, Dunn along with Rickson and other members of the Plantation Revue troupe had already sailed for England by that date. WCA suggests Gus Aiken as a more likely candidate for cornetist – although Aiken was a regular member of the Gonzell White troupe which toured the country and was in Cuba from June to December, 1923."

- JAZZ INFORMATION 1-35 p.2: "Les Zacheis of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, writes that with the help of Dave Caughren he has obtained the correct personnel (sic!) of the Paramount/Claxtonola records by Perry Bradford's Jazz Phoools. For 'Charleston South Carolina' – 'Hoola Boola Dance' (Claxtonola 40309) and 'Daybreak Blues' – 'Fadeaway Blues' (National 12255), also issued on other labels, this personnel was given by Perry Bradford himself: Gus Aiken, trumpet; Garvin Bushell, clarinet; Brassfield, clarinet and sax; (for other records, Bradford has given "Brass" Field, drummer! KBR) "Speed", banjo; Bradford, piano. Johnny Dunn is definitely not on these sides. According to Bradford, Dunn was in Europe when they were made (No, not yet! KBR)."

- Rust*3, *4, *6: "probably similar to Johnny Dunn – c; Earl Granstaff, Herb Flemming or Calvin Jones – tb; Garvin Bushell, Ernest Elliott and/or Herschel Brassfield – cl-as; Leroy Tibbs, George Rickson or Dan Wilson – p; John Mitchell or Sam Speed – bj; possibly others." (take your choice! – KBR)

- BGR*4: "prob. Johnny Dunn, c; unknown, tb; prob. Perry Bradford, p; unknown, bj."

- Bushell/Tucker p.157: no comment by Bushell here, but "personnel as above?: Lena Wilson, v; Johnny Dunn, c; Earl Granstaff, Herb Flemming, or Calvin Jones, tb; Garvin Bushell, Ernest Elliott, and/or Herschel Brassfield. cl, as; Leroy Tibbs, George Rickson, or Dan Wilson, p; John Mitchell or Sam Speed, bj; others?"

1362-1 and 1363-1 are reissued on CD Timeless CBC 1-073 'Perry Bradford Panorama',

1362-2 and 1363-2 are reissued on Document DOCD-5443 'Lena Wilson Vol.1',

Discernible differences of takes:

As take -2 of the first title does not seem to be reissued, apparent differences cannot be stated!

Rust lists this session under the same date as before - and with the same personnel – without paying attention to the large gap in matrix numbers. Furthermore there is a reed player here who is not on the session above. B&GR have separated sessions listed and list the reed player. Johnny Dunn had been to England early May until September 1923. So, as by this date it might have been Dunn here, but aurally this is the same trumpet player as on the foregoing session, thus Aiken. Gus Aiken plays very much in the Johnny Dunn style, but with a little more rhythmic freedom and a somewhat less brilliant tone, and – as Bushell expressed it - “If that's Gus Aiken, he's playing Johnny Dunn's patterns note for note”. The trombone player lacks a bit of Flemming's brilliance and might therefore be Gus Aiken's brother Gene “Bud” Aiken, who – as always – plays in his no-nonsense style. The clarinetist might well be Garvin Bushell, as he belonged to this circle of musicians frequently engaged by Bradford, Dunn and cohorts. His technical ability is demonstrated in the first title where he on the spot repeats fast trumpet runs improvised by Aiken. Tone and vibrato are well in his range. The pianist shows nothing of Perry Bradford's characteristics (frequent treble figures), but plays in a simplified stride style, and might therefore be Leroy Tibbs, but might also be Charlie Smitty Smith of later Blue Rhythm Orchestra fame. The banjo player is Sam Speede with his straight four beat playing and his difficulties keeping time when playing arpeggios.

Recording date is from: The Rise and Fall of Paramount Records, Vol. 1, Third Man Records.

Notes: For this session the following personnels have been listed:

- B&GR*4: “prob. Johnny Dunn, c; unknown, tb; unknown, cl; prob. Perry Bradford, p; unknown, bj.”

- Bushell/Tucker p.157: no comment by Bushell here, so possibly not Bushell on this session! but: “personnel as above?: Lena Wilson, v; Johnny Dunn, c; Earl Granstaff, Herb Flemming, or Calvin Jones, tb; Garvin Bushell, Ernest Elliott, and/or Herschel Brassfield. cl, as; Leroy Tibbs, George Rickson, or Dan Wilson, p; John Mitchell or Sam Speed, bj; others?”

1378-3 and 1379-3 are reissued on CD Timeless CBC 1-073 'Perry Bradford Panorama' and on Document DOCD-5443 'Lena Wilson'.
1378-2 seems to be unreissued.

This piano accompanist really plays a romping and exuberant stride piano and is thus very different from what I have got to know from Porter Grainger. But this is very fine and I therefore probably have to change my opinion re Porter Grainger – given that it is really he on this recording. But – as my good friend Jörg Kuhfuss just reports - the label says: Porter Grainger, and this should then be a reference recording for other sessions featuring him.

This trumpet player is a much more assured player owning a more brilliant tone than the musician named as such in earlier sessions of my Gus Aiken discography. He, yet, seems to be Gus Aiken on the strength of this trumpeter's style – and being named thus in Rust and Godrich/Dixon for some of the sessions. Furthermore Aiken's presence in this session is still open to some doubt because of the date problem. But if this is Aiken: what a wonderful trumpet player he was at this time, if still in Dunn's traits which he would leave when touring Cuba. Herb Flemming and Garvin Bushell obviously are there on the session, as well as John Mitchell. But the pianist – listed as George Rickson in Rust and BGR – was in England at this time. I would suggest Leroy Tibbs instead.

DB : agree seemingly better player but there is some delicate mute work on 'Deceitful' not altogether unlike that on 023 – 028 of Aiken disco.
